

Student and graduate member benefits

What is AMBA student and graduate membership?

The Association of MBAs (AMBA) is the impartial authority on postgraduate management education. Our accreditation service is the global standard for all MBA, DBA and Masters degrees, currently accrediting programmes from the top 2% of business schools in over 75 countries.

Both students who are currently studying an AMBA-accredited programme, as well as graduates who have completed an AMBA-accredited programme, are eligible for complimentary AMBA student and graduate membership.

By joining AMBA, you will instantly be part of an international and professionally diverse network of more than 60,000 members.

From those in their first week of study, to experienced and senior business leaders, this vibrant network harnesses the expertise of the MBA community to share insights and thought leadership, create business networking opportunities, and amplify the collective voice of MBAs all around the world.

AMBA student and graduate membership encapsulates our main brand mission to “be in brilliant company”, allowing members to have access to invaluable networking opportunities, informative expert opinion and an ever-growing network of MBAs, DBAs and MBMs around the world. And better still, all students retain their AMBA membership even when they graduate from their business school.

AMBA membership gives students and graduates access to services to nurture and enhance their personal and professional development.

Your AMBA membership services

AMBA Membership is available to all current students and graduates of AMBA-accredited programmes.

Once students and graduates join as AMBA members, they will have access to our services free of charge, for life.

Members can access tools and services designed to support their transition from business school to work and beyond, such as:

- Career Development Centre – one of the most popular resources available in the member platform is our bespoke Career Development Centre, which supports students and graduates in assessing and advancing their career path, in building a professional network, and in learning about the skills employers are most in need of, among other industry trends.

Tools and resources available:

- CV360: helping members optimise their CV for humans and machines
- Interview360: auto-generated interviews with instant AI-powered feedback
- Job listings
- Career assessment and aptitude tests
- Large database of e-learning modules for developing skills and knowledge

- Digital credentials – are a convenient way to help you communicate a membership or qualification online in a secure way. These credentials can be in the format of a digital badge or digital certificate.

Obtaining an AMBA digital credential can help increase your visibility to employers and recruiters, and develop your professional networks through the following channels:

- Linking to your social media platforms such as LinkedIn
- Download your badge or certificate to use on your email signature, business cards or your CV
- Print your certificate to present physical versions at interviews or meetings
- Identify, view and connect with other members via social media

The credentials can be purchased via the members area on the AMBA website at an exclusive discounted rate.

- Professional development webinars – AMBA hosts monthly webinars designed to engage business students and graduates. Each webinar focuses on developing both soft and hard skills in those who are seeking to make a meaningful contribution to their community and the wider economy. Webinar topics centre around career planning, career development, lifelong learning, leadership skills and more.

The webinar series attracts speakers from a diverse set of industries and covers a range of topics that will help students and graduates develop in areas such as self-confidence, career planning, networking, responsible management and much more.

- AMBA Connect events – a series of member-focused evening events designed to bring together student and graduate members from our ever-growing network.

Connect events are the perfect setting for future business leaders from AMBA-accredited programmes who wish to meet and exchange insights with like-minded peers, build their professional networks and hear from influential business leaders and educators on a range of topics meant for personal development.

Tickets can be purchased via the members area on the AMBA website: associationofmbas.com

- AMBA book club – keeps you up to date with innovative business books as well as reviews and opinions on must-read titles, such as Social Entrepreneurship by Mel Young and Alexandra Matthews, and The Prosperity Paradox by Efosa Ojomo and Karen Dillon.

AMBA members can also enjoy up to 35% off best-selling management books from leading international publishers.

By joining AMBA, you will instantly be part of an international and professionally diverse network of more than 60,000 members.
